

Are the media serving your community?

RAISE YOUR VOICE NOW — OR LOSE IT!

Do you want more quality journalism? Is the media covering issues you care about? Do you get the information you need from the nightly news?

WWOR (My9NY), a Fox Television station, is the only broadcast TV station in New Jersey, but they have turned their back on local communities. The public owns the airwaves that WWOR uses to broadcast. Fox has been permitted to use these airwaves for free with the obligation that they serve local communities.

WWOR wants to renew their broadcast license and keep producing the same junk media while ignoring local issues. The Federal Communications Commission wants to hear from you about how well WWOR has been serving New Jersey. Now is your chance to weigh in.

Newark will host a rare public license renewal hearing— and you can tell the FCC how well the media are serving your community. Don't miss this opportunity to make your voice heard!

Official FCC Hearing on Local Media

Wednesday, Nov. 28, 4pm
Rutgers University - Newark Campus
Paul Robeson Campus Center
350 Dr Martin Luther King Blvd.
Newark, NJ 07102

SAVE
THE DATE

For the latest information, visit www.stopbigmedia.com/=newark or www.voicenj.com or call Josh Stearns at 413-585-1533 x204.