

How Public Broadcasting is Funded

Most of CPB Funding for Public Radio and Television goes directly to individual stations in the form of Community Service Grants (CSG's). The stations use a portion of these grants to purchase programming from the national networks, NPR and PBS

